Dear Harold, Feb. 17, 1995

Received your 2/6 and 2/12 letters yesterday and today. Glad to see Never Again! seems to be getting some priority, at long last. But it was dismaying to see another book by Livingstone and Russell in the same catalogue. It appears Livingstone will attack Posner in his new book, as expected. My fear is that Posner may have an easier time responding to him and be able to show how he has confronted his critics, even though he has virtually ignored Case Open.

I trust you will have received the results of the class I taught this past January by the time you receive this letter. As I may have mentioned in a previous letter, I am still giving some thought to a full semester course in the Fall featuring Never Again!

I am almost finished with the annotated Hoax. After which I plan to read and give whatever comments I can on Waketh the Watchman. It has been on my desk for some time, and I am looking forward to getting into it finally.

Enclosed with this letter are responses to some questions you had.

Regards to Lillian,

Best,
Jerry
